

A different encounter by the lamp post

Remember the discussions we had with the story opening of Narnia, when Lucy enters the forest for the first time?

Well it is now time for you to rewrite the story opening and make something different happen.

Lucy, the character, must stay the same.

What can you change?

Well...

- Does she appear in a different setting?
- How is it different?
- Does she see something else other than a lamp post?
- Does she meet a different sort of creature?
- Does the creature behave differently to her?

Remember just write the story opening and not the full story.
